

The Government of Iceland and the Nordic Council of Ministers are delighted to invite you to participate in a Nordic side-event at the UN High-Level Political Forum 2019:

THE NORDIC REGION ACCEPTING THE CHALLENGE YOUTH, CLIMATE ACTION AND DEMOCRACY

Young people all around the world are protesting over climate change inaction. They are demanding access to decision-making and challenging governments' abilities to tackle the climate crisis.

At HLPF 2019, Iceland, one of the oldest democracies in the world, will bring the question of youth inclusion, climate action and democracy to the forefront of global discussions.

Join the Icelandic Prime Minister Katrín Jakobsdóttir and a distinguished Youth Panel in an interactive debate on how Generation 2030 can push for accelerating global climate action, SDG13, and achieve climate justice and peaceful societies, SDG16.

13 CLIMATE
ACTION

THE NORDIC REGION ACCEPTING THE CHALLENGE YOUTH, CLIMATE ACTION AND DEMOCRACY

PROGRAM

Date: Tuesday 16th of July 2019, 6:30-8:00 pm

Location: Conference Room 11,
United Nations Headquarters, New York

WELCOME

Katrín Jakobsdóttir, Prime Minister of Iceland

YOUTH PANEL WITH PRIME MINISTER KATRÍN JAKOBSDÓTTIR

Panelists

- Katrín Jakobsdóttir, Prime Minister of Iceland
- Jayathma Wickramanayake, UN Secretary General's Youth Envoy
- Gilbert Happy Lwetutte, UN Youth Delegate Uganda
- Alexandria Villaseñor, Climate Activist
- Sigurður Loftur Thorlacius, Icelandic Youth representative

INTERACTIVE DISCUSSION WITH PARTICIPANTS

Politicians and policy makers are especially invited to engage with the youth panel on how to engage youth in climate change action.

CLOSING REMARKS

Jayathma Wickramanayake, UN Secretary General's Youth Envoy

MODERATOR

Noora Löfström, Youth representative to the Nordic Council of Ministers Expert Group on Sustainable Development

In collaboration with